

This function should be used in a stable system, i.e. when the stability factor (k) is greater than 1. The function actually works for both $k > 1$ and $k \leq 1$. If $k > 1$, then k is used in the max gain calculations. However, if $k \leq 1$, then $k = 1$ is used in the max gain calculations.